

Character Bios

General Decay

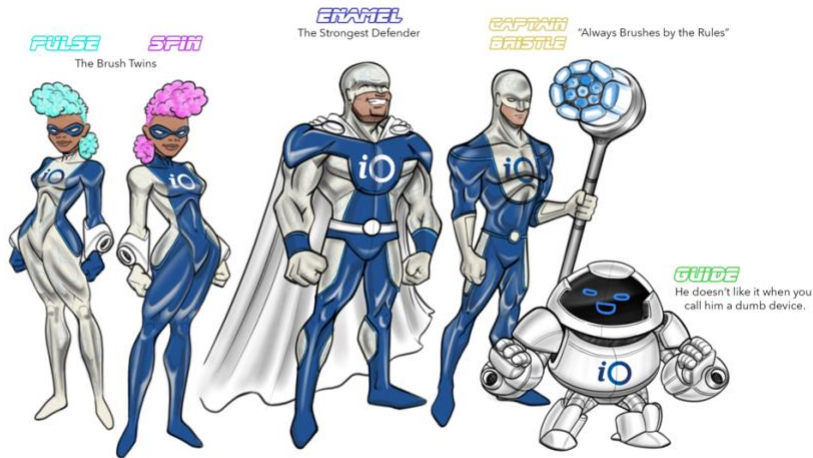

Entropy's main weapon in the universe. He's around to make sure that everything falls apart. He loves the chaos, filth and laziness that leads to breakdown.

Unbeknownst to the Oral Care Defenders, General Decay has become the leader of the Cavity Creeps and given them more focus and renewed purpose to destroy Toothopolis and oral health in general! His ultimate mission is to create an unhealthy environment where the Cavity Creeps can dig in and multiply.

His great innovation was to shrink some of the Cavity Creeps and give them an insatiable hunger for gums. He dubbed them: Nano Creeps! Next, he added to the Cavity Creeps insatiable hunger for teeth... he gave them a burning desire to destroy enamel as well!

General Decay's grand plan is to attack Toothopolis on multiple fronts:

1. Destroy Toothopolis' morale by using the Cavity Creeps to pile up and spread a horrible smell at the base of the walls.
2. Have the Creeps repel down the walls and discolor the teeth to weaken the teeth and morale.
3. Send the Nano Creeps to infect the gums, thereby weakening the foundation of the teeth.
4. Send the Creeps work on destroying the enamel protection of the teeth.
5. Finally, General Decay will lead a full assault on Toothopolis itself!

Captain Bristle

A formidable combatant in the war against tooth decay. Singular minded and utterly devoted to the task of brushing teeth. Can be a bit old-fashioned and only focused on brushing and the use of paste to deal with the newly evolving threat of General Decay and his multiple versions of the Cavity Creeps. An expert in all of the older weapons the Defenders have against the Cavity Creeps but can be slow in adopting the newer tech his younger teammates are inventing. However, he's never without his trusty iO Round Brush, his veritable Excalibur in his continual campaign for oral health.